

AES PROCEEDINGS

Symposium on Language and Culture

Edited by Viola E. Garfield. An Evolutionary Sketch of Russian Kinship; Culture Geography at a Distance—Problems in the Study of East European Jewry; Linguistic Evidence for Salish Pre-history; Graphemics and Linguistics; Inconsistencies in Cherokee Spelling; The Sequential Distribution of Thanking in Aymara Culture; Lynching the Lexicographers. 1962. 96 pages. $3.50

Patterns of Land Utilization and Other Papers

Edited by Viola E. Garfield. Land Use and Social Organization in Northeastern Luzon; Early Village Farming in Southeastern Asia; Ecology of the South Plains, 1830-1870; The Port-of-Trade in Pre-European India as an Ecological and Evolutionary Type; Pratik: Haitian Personal Economic Relationships; Primitive and Civilized Money in the Santa Cruz Islands; The Place of Pigs in Melanesian Subsistence; Amok and Aggression in the D'Entrecasteaux; Fiestas among Andean Indians; Descent in Cognatic Social Systems; Peasantry as a Social Type. 1961. 119 pages. $3.50

Windigo Psychosis

A Study of a Relationship between Belief and Behavior among the Indians of Northeastern Canada

By Morton I. Teicher. Edited by Verne F. Ray. The Windigo Setting; Folklore: the Windigo Stories; The Windigo Cases; Geographical List of Windigo Place Names; Folktale Titles. 1960. 129 pages. $3.50

Intermediate Societies, Social Mobility, and Communication

Edited by Verne F. Ray. Observations on the Concept and Study of Intermediate Societies; Several Studies in Articulation; Cultural Correlates of the Cyclical Market; Structure Implications for Change in Pueblo and Spanish New Mexico; Task Groups and Marriage in Western Sumbawa; The Examination System and Social Mobility in China, 1368-1911; Changing Channels of Cultural Transmission in Indian Civilization. 1959. 74 pages. $2.50

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON PRESS
SEATTLE, WASHINGTON 98105

books from the AMERICAN ETHNOLOGICAL SOCIETY

books from the
AMERICAN
 ETHNOLOGICAL
 SOCIETY

PRIMITIVE PRAGMATISTS

The Modoc Indians of Northern California

By Verne F. Ray. At the crossroads between California, the Great Basin, the Plateau, and the Northwest Coast, the Modoc were exposed to extremes of cultural variation. The practices, beliefs, and ideals that characterized their fiercely individualistic and pragmatic way of life set their culture apart from all others. Based wholly upon original field research, Primitive Pragmatists presents an ethnographic composite of the knowledge and experience of all the Modoc men and women who remembered the old life. It is a source book for anthropologists, sociologists, and students of the American Indian, as well as good reading for all those interested in the life of primitive peoples. Verne F. Ray, former president of the American Ethnological Society, is an authority on Indians of the intermontane West and the Plateau. 256 pages, diagrams. $5.00

PAPAGO INDIAN POTTERY

By Bernard L. Fontana, William J. Robinson, Charles W. Cormack, and Ernest E. Leavitt, Jr. All aspects of life become involved as the authors consider the origins, evolution, use, and discontinuation of various pottery forms. Their view of a people through a single item or material of its culture is applicable as a technique for archaeologists and ethnologists elsewhere. This is a book also for artists, ceramists, and those concerned with the cultures of the Southwest. Bernard Fontana and Ernest Leavitt worked from the Arizona State Museum; the other contributors, from the Department of Anthropology at the University of Arizona. 192 pages, 95 photographs. $5.75

WEST INDIAN FAMILY STRUCTURE

By M. G. Smith. "There is little doubt that this book is to be regarded as a major contribution to Caribbean studies. It is based in great part on the researches made by the author in Jamaica, Grenada, and Carriacou, and is an attempt to give form and definition to the study of family organization in the West Indies. In this Dr. Smith has succeeded. What has hitherto been lacking in the approach to the problem of structure and function in relation to the family in the West Indies is a comparison and synthesis of material from different areas. It is in this field that West Indian Family Structure will prove to be of great value."—Man (England). The book is addressed to social scientists, administrators, and others concerned with emerging nations. Formerly at the University College of the West Indies, Professor Smith is now on the faculty of the University of California in Los Angeles. 311 pages, charts, graphs. $6.00

POINT HOPE

An Eskimo Village in Transition

By James W. VanStone. One of Alaska's oldest villages, Point Hope is described and compared with other villages in both its modern and its earlier aspects. The author is concerned with group and individual relationships of this Eskimo community and with the degree to which European and American values and skills have affected the villagers. James W. VanStone is assistant professor of anthropology at the University of Toronto. 192 pages. $5.25

A COMMUNITY IN THE ANDES

Problems and Progress in Muquiyauyo

By Richard N. Adams. This Mestizo-Indian community in Peru is often cited as an outstanding example of local progressiveness. The author traces its cultural history and shows the arduous steps that have led to locally sponsored advances. These include recent basic changes in local government and establishment of a hydroelectric power plant. Professor Adams of Michigan State University writes from extensive research experience in Latin America for the U.S. Government and the World Health Organization and following more than a year's study and observation in Muquiyauyo. 268 pages. $4.75

MALAYA

By Norton S. Ginsburg and Chester F. Roberts, Jr. Singapore and the State of Malaya are shown as they have evolved from colonial status, with analyses of racial communities and an appraisal of the historical, environmental, social, economic, and political settings within which the future of Malaya and Malaysia are being determined. "Accurate, sympathetic, and penetrating."—Economic Geography. 547 pages, maps, tables. $6.75

CARIBBEAN STUDIES

A Symposium

Edited by Vera Rubin. The confluence of races, social classes, and variant cultural traditions in this small, tropical area has led to the formation of a distinctive West Indian society. The symposium, concerned with problems faced by pioneers in Caribbean research, was co-sponsored by Columbia University's Program for the Study of Man in the Tropics. 133 pages. $3.00

ESKIMO CHILDHOOD AND INTERPERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS

Nunivak Biographies and Genealogies

By Margaret Lantis. Interviews with eighteen Eskimos living on Nunivak Island in the Bering Sea are supplemented with editorial comment, genealogical information, and psychological interpretation. The book is addressed to a widening audience of social scientists and laymen concerned with Arctic affairs. Dr. Lantis has made extensive field studies in anthropology, economics, and public health in major areas of Alaska since 1933. 230 pages. $4.75

STATUS TERMINOLOGY AND THE SOCIAL STRUCTURE OF NORTH AMERICAN INDIANS

By Munro S. Edmonson. This is a study of the way some American Indian and Eskimo groups look at their own societies. Using the terms created by each group to define its own social structure, Professor Edmonson of Tulane University presents a linguistic method useful both for description and for comparative analysis. "Indispensable for further comparative work on this little understood subject."—American Anthropologist. 92 pages. $3.00

LAND AND POLITY IN TIBET

By Pedro Carrasco. Tibet's relative isolation from the rest of Asia and almost complete isolation from the West, until our own day, favored the development and preservation of cultural and social patterns of great interest. This is the first approach to an understanding of Tibetan society through the methods of modern social science. Professor Carrasco, now in the Department of Anthropology and Sociology at the University of California in Los Angeles, did his research as part of the Inner Asia Project of the University of Washington's Far Eastern and Russian Institute. 315 pages, maps. $5.75

THE TLINGIT INDIANS

Results of a Trip to the Northwest Coast of America and the Bering Straits

By Aurel Krause. Translated by Erna Gunther. The Tlingits of Southeastern Alaska in the days of their isolation developed an outstanding Indian culture. The principal source of information about it is the account by Aurel Krause of his observations during an expedition for the Geographical Society of Bremen in 1880-1881. This translation into English of the long out-of-print German edition, by an authority on West Coast Indians, has gone into several printings for use by both specialists and general readers. 310 pages, 36 illustrations. $4.50

CHICHICASTENANGO

A Guatemalan Village

By Ruth Bunzel. Chichicastenango, in Guatemala's western highlands, is a center of Indian commerce and tradition whose inhabitants withstood the shock of conquest and reorganized their lives in new patterns that lasted four hundred years. Ruth Bunzel, on the faculty of Columbia University, did the field work for this study of village life in 1930-31 and prepared the book in 1952. It thus shows the social structure of the 1930's and at the same time serves as a base from which researchers can observe drastic changes of World War II and later times. Emphasis is on the pervasiveness of religion and ritual. "An excellent monograph."—Anthropos. 464 pages. $7.00

AES MONOGRAPHS

CHANGING MILITARY PATTERNS ON THE GREAT PLAINS, 1630-1830

By Frank Raymond Secoy. "This carefully documented and well-written little volume concerns itself with the changes occurring in the military techniques of the Plains Indians during two centuries of contact with Europeans . . . an excellent and interesting work."—Southwest Historical Quarterly. Monograph 21. 120 pages, maps. $2.75

THE CHEYENNE IN PLAINS INDIAN TRADE RELATIONS 1795-1840

By Joseph Jablow. A study of the effects of the fur trade and diffusion of the horse upon the Cheyenne. "Historians and archaeologists should find it stimulating."—American Anthropologist. Monograph 19. 110 pages, maps. $2.50

BUZIOS ISLAND: A CAICARA COMMUNITY IN SOUTHERN BRAZIL

By Emilio Willems in cooperation with Gioconda Mussolini. An analysis of the Portuguese-Indian island of Buzios, off the coast of Sao Paulo, which has maintained unusual contact with its Caicara neighbors on the mainland despite geographic isolation. "The product of many years of study, Buzios Island is surely the most important contribution to our knowledge of Caicara culture so far published."—Americas (Pan-American Union). Monograph 20. 124 pages. $2.75

BALI: TEMPLE FESTIVAL

By Jane Belo. A description of a three-day calendric festival typical of those celebrated in every Balinese temple once a year as a visit of the gods. "A first-rate job of ethnographic reporting."—American Anthropologist. Monograph 22. 78 pages, 10 photographs, chart. $2.75

AES

PROCEEDINGS

Symposium on Language and Culture

Edited by Viola E. Garfield. An Evolutionary Sketch of Russian Kinship; Culture Geography at a Distance—Problems in the Study of East European Jewry; Linguistic Evidence for Salish Pre-history; Graphemics and Linguistics; Inconsistencies in Cherokee Spelling; The Sequential Distribution of Thanking in Aymara Culture; Lynching the Lexicographers. 1962. 96 pages. $3.50

Patterns of Land Utilization and Other Papers

Edited by Viola E. Garfield. Land Use and Social Organization in Northeastern Luzon; Early Village Farming in Southeastern Asia; Ecology of the South Plains, 1830-1870; The Port-of-Trade in Pre-European India as an Ecological and Evolutionary Type; Pratik: Haitian Personal Economic Relationships; Primitive and Civilized Money in the Santa Cruz Islands; The Place of Pigs in Melanesian Subsistence; Amok and Aggression in the D'Entrecasteaux; Fiestas among Andean Indians; Descent in Cognatic Social Systems; Peasantry as a Social Type. 1961. 119 pages. $3.50

Windigo Psychosis

A Study of a Relationship between Belief and Behavior among the Indians of Northeastern Canada

By Morton I. Teicher. Edited by Verne F. Ray. The Windigo Setting; Folklore: the Windigo Stories; The Windigo Cases; Geographical List of Windigo Place Names; Folktale Titles. 1960. 129 pages. $3.50

Intermediate Societies, Social Mobility, and Communication

Edited by Verne F. Ray. Observations on the Concept and Study of Intermediate Societies; Several Studies in Articulation; Cultural Correlates of the Cyclical Market; Structure Implications for Change in Pueblo and Spanish New Mexico; Task Groups and Marriage in Western Sumbawa; The Examination System and Social Mobility in China, 1368-1911; Changing Channels of Cultural Transmission in Indian Civilization. 1959. 74 pages. $2.50

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON PRESS
SEATTLE, WASHINGTON 98105

U. of Chicago Press